LOOK INTO OUR WORLD

Look into our world,
As you travel through the path,
Remembering the years, joys renewed.

Cherish it, make the memories last
As you glance at the years past,
To the time we spent together,
As we learned our lessons for the better.

Rememberances of the friends we've made,
Rememberances of the parties we've had.

Through the years and through the tears,
And all of the schoolwork we all endured,
Now farewell, reluctant to leave.

Now comes the day we put our childhood dreams away,
but the memory of the past, longer will stay.
Tomorrow is waiting for new dreams to be dreamed,
and goals to be reached.
Tomorrow is waiting to be ours.

We had our share of good times,
We had our share of bad.
Even after giving our farewells,
We will remember the best days we ever had.
As we look back into our world . . .

LORRAINE BACEY '85

"Good times are judged by the friends, not by the content of the punch."

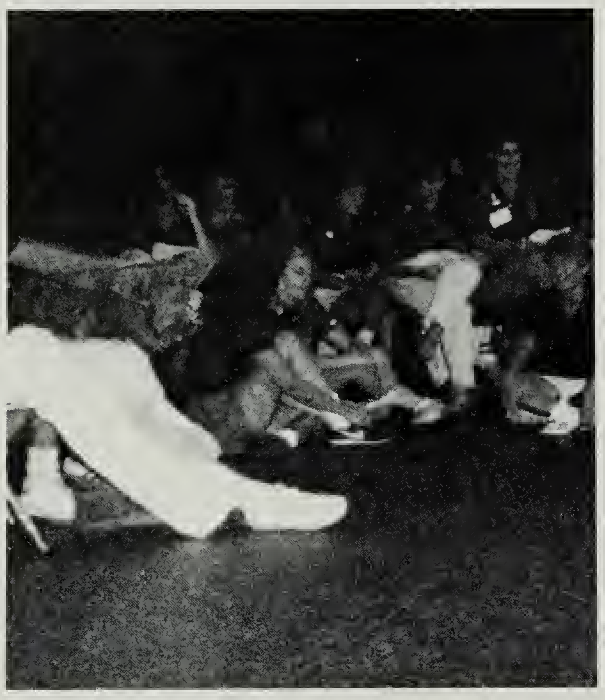
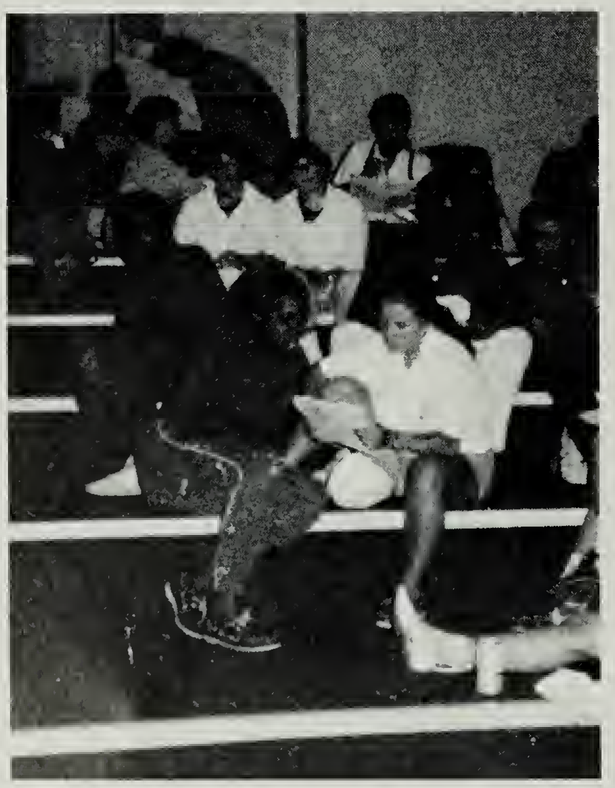
PEOPLE

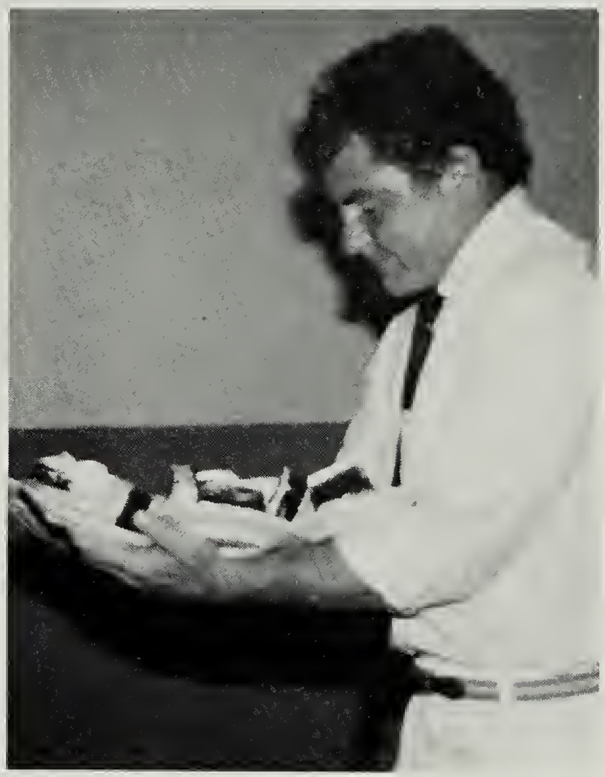
Life at Manhattanville centers around a diversity of activities — intellectual and social. Students in large measure shape the quality of Manhattanville and the years spent here. The diverse group that makes up the student body provides interesting and rewarding experiences.

It was a memorable Orientation, at least for those of us who can remember it. With toast after toast, the RA's and SA's saluted each other and Orientation 1984. Student Staff had worked and practically lived together for an entire week. Orientation Board, Student Advisors, and Resident Assistants prepared to make all feel welcome and a part of the Manhattanville family. Freshman Orientation was probably one of the most exciting and well-planned in years. Orientation 1984 was a huge success.





ORIENTATION



Students of Manhattanville put on their athletic gear and partook in the annual Fall Field Festival. The fun was not limited to just the participants, the spectators watched in awe as horseshoes, crab-soccer, and waterpolo to mention a few, provided great entertainment. Munching on pizza, listening to WMVL, and cheering Manhattanville's own sports teams to victory were some more enjoyable events. This sunny Saturday proved great fun for all who attended Fall Field Festival, 84.

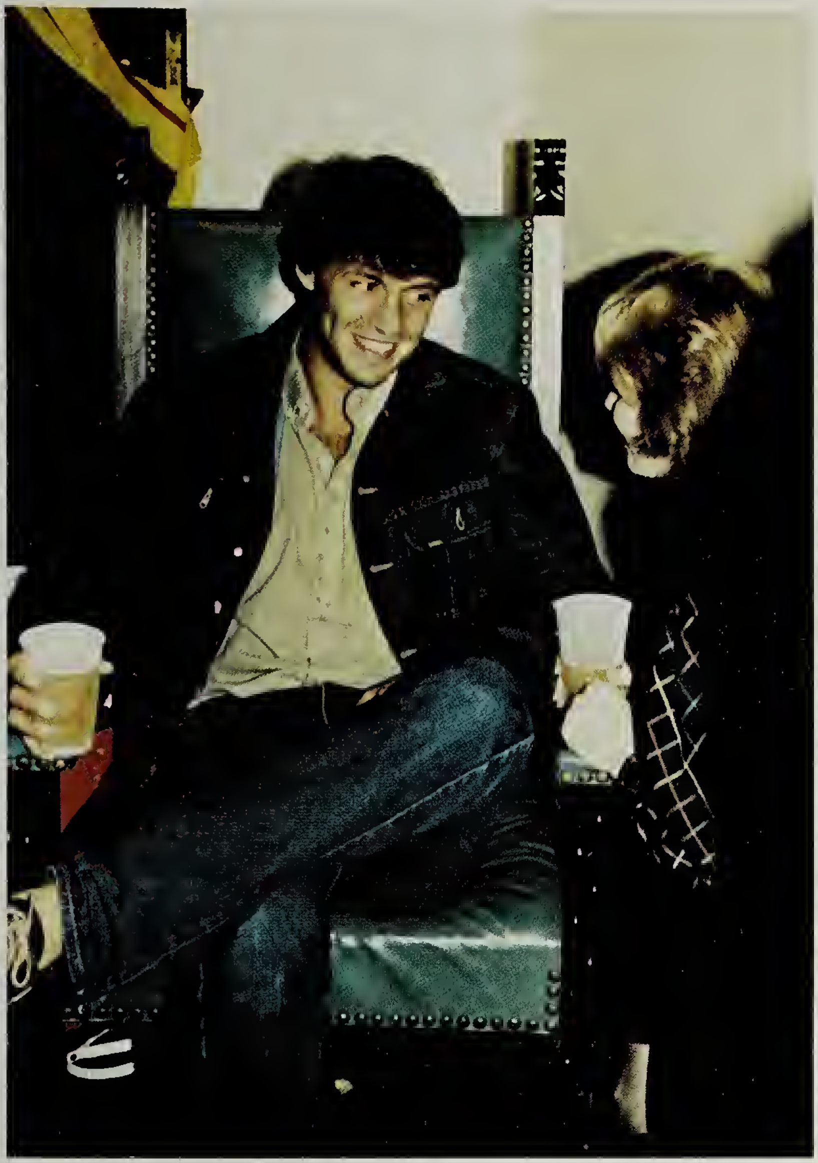
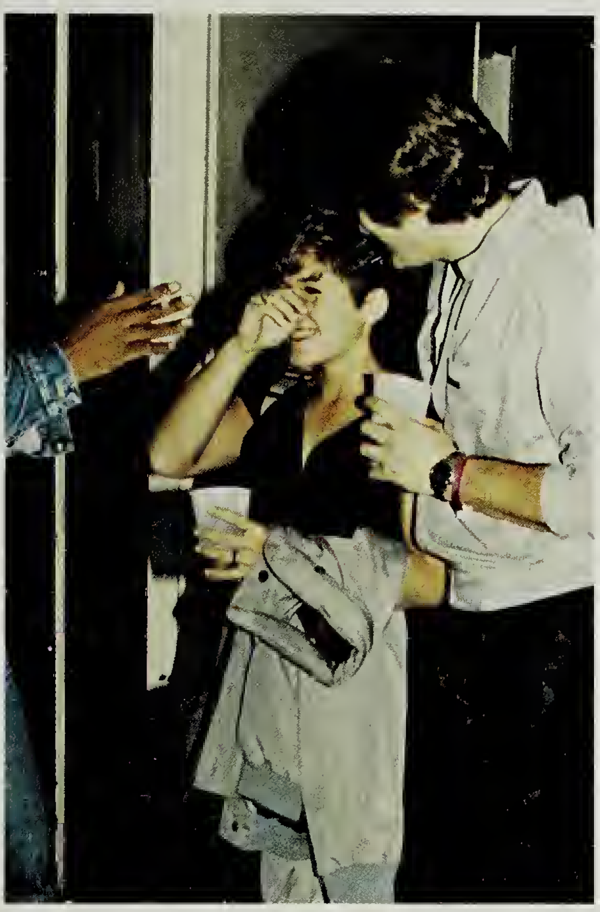
PARTY

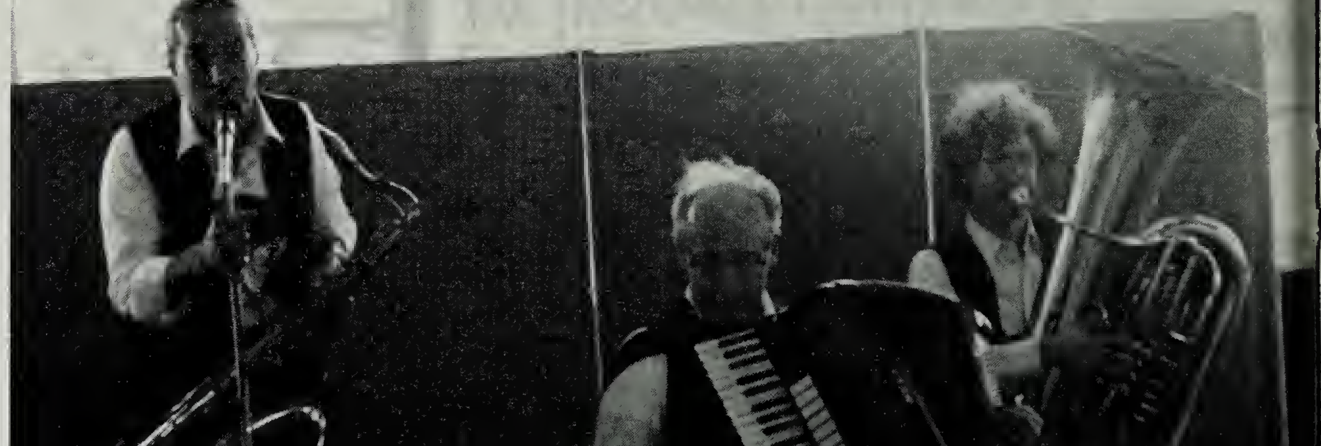
EAST ROOM PARTY

Opening the fall semester with an East Room Party was a delightful idea. A beautiful night and a great many students anxious for a new semester filled with fun, were the perfect ingredients for a successful party. Music and dancing paved the way as new acquaintances were made and old friends were reunited. The evening proved to be an enjoyable combination of drinking and dancing and just being merry. It was a great chance for all to catch up on all the news missed over the summer. And of course, classes not yet being held, no one was worried about getting up — except for that dreaded task — Enrollment.

WDM



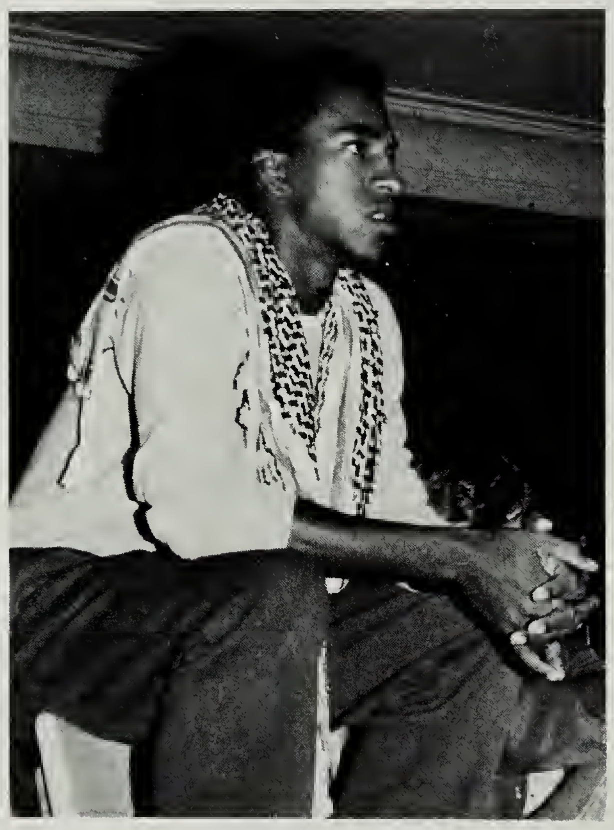


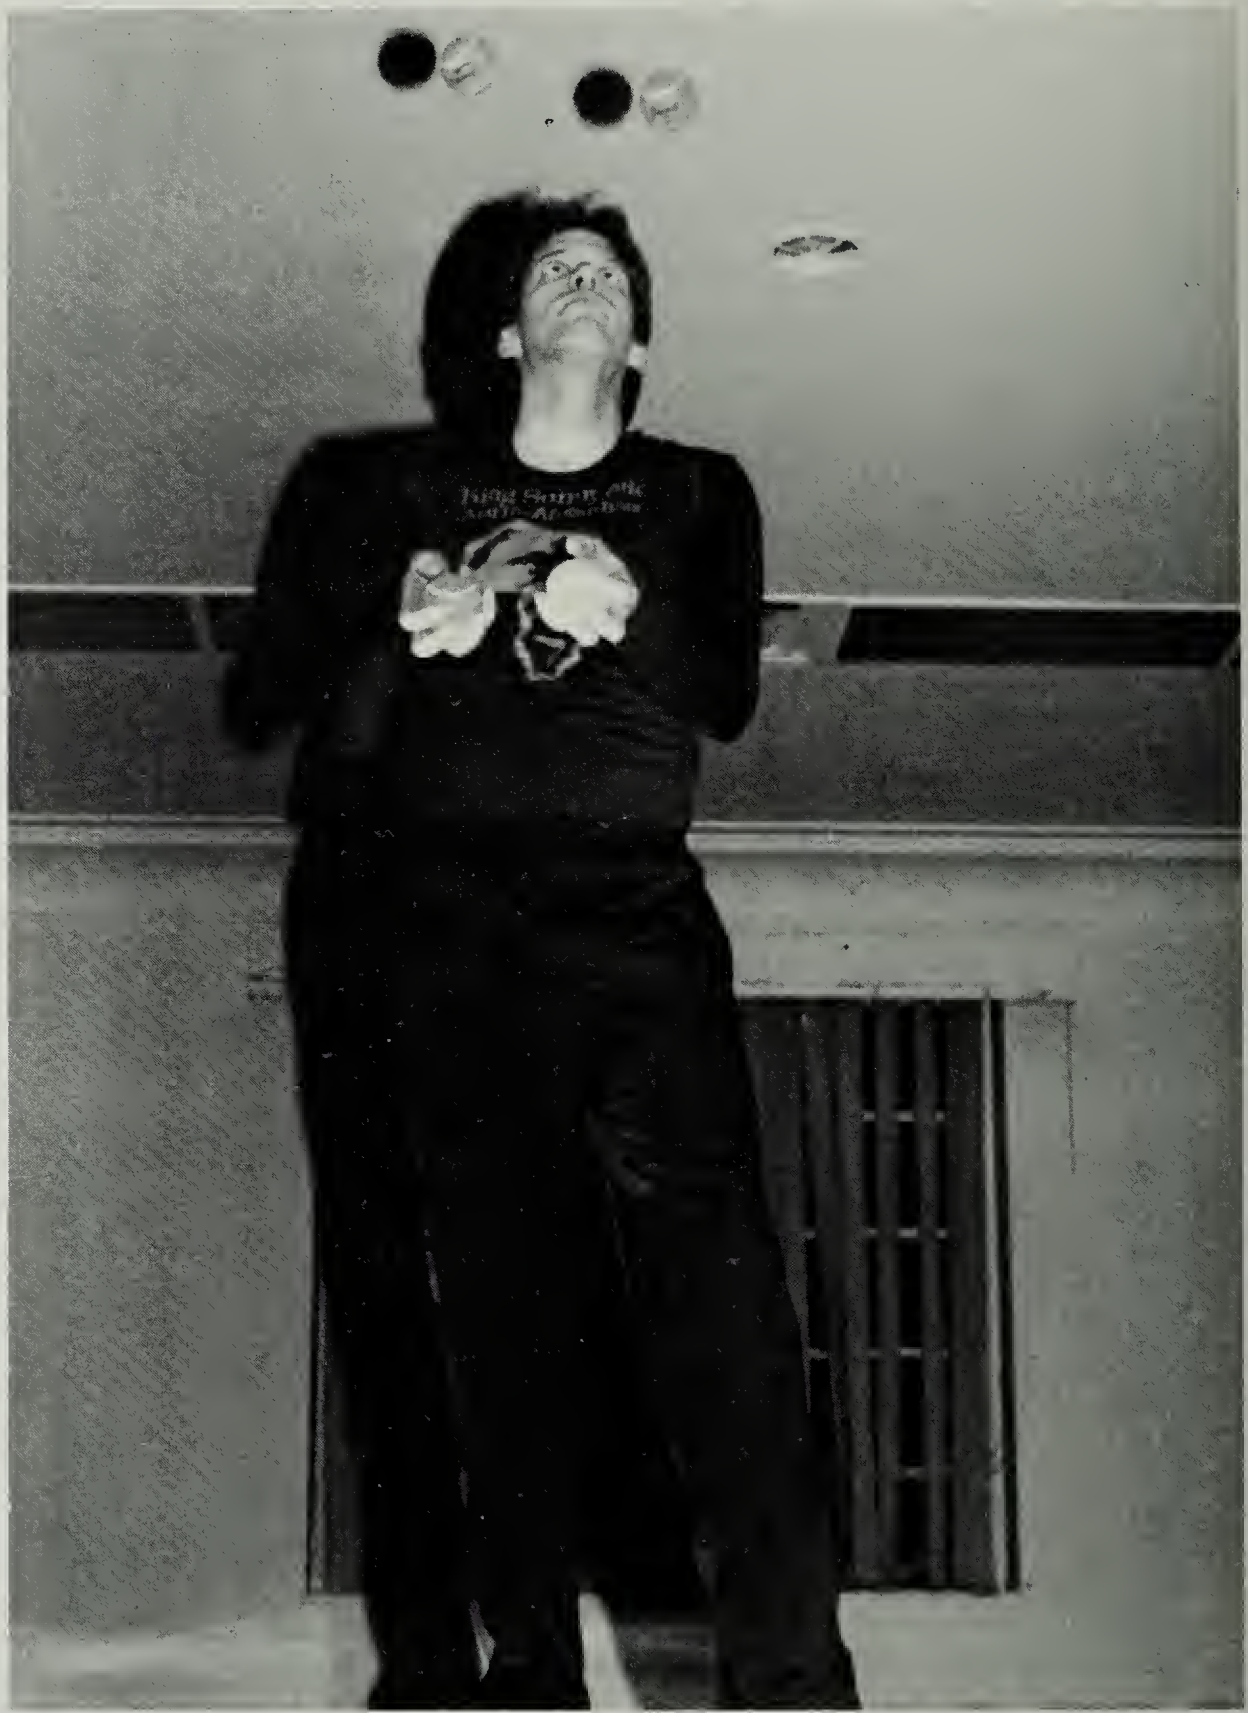


Flik International outdid themselves this year with their annual Octoberfest. A gala banquet with food fit for a king highlighted the evening. Everyone came out for dinner on the festive October night as students, Directors for Flik and even the Dean of the College celebrated the Bavarian event. Live music to dine by added a sparkle to the event and even managed to coax some students into dancing the Polka.

OCTOBERFEST

CHRIS BLISS





Following the "Michael Jackson" trend, Manhattanville hosted Chris Bliss who opened for the Jackson's Victory Tour. As advertised on the Student Activities flashing sign, Chris Bliss performed a "concert for the eyes", juggling to music which was coordinated to a computerized light show. The audience sat spellbound, mesmorized by the flashing colored lights and Bliss' juggling abilities. By combining old and new ideas, juggling and computer technology, Chris Bliss came up with an all new and exciting show. It was definitely a "Thriller." One thing is for sure, Chris Bliss succeeded in lighting up the audience's night.

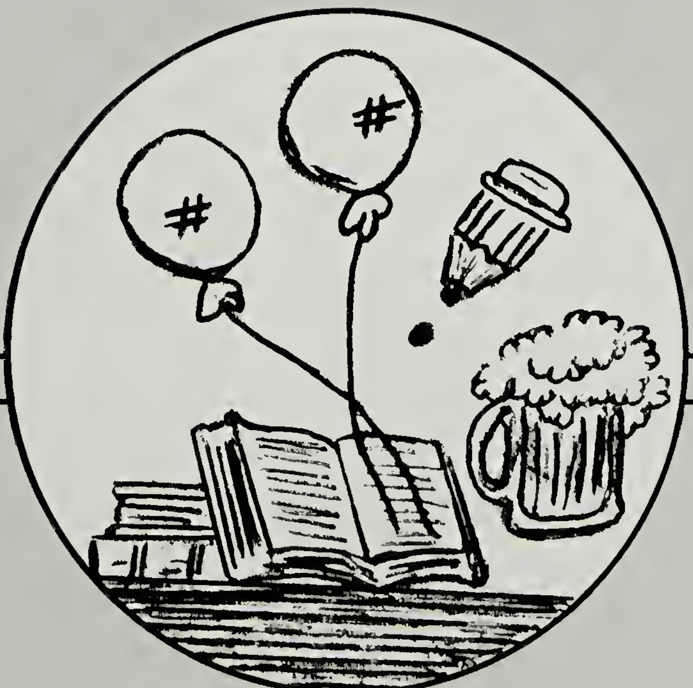
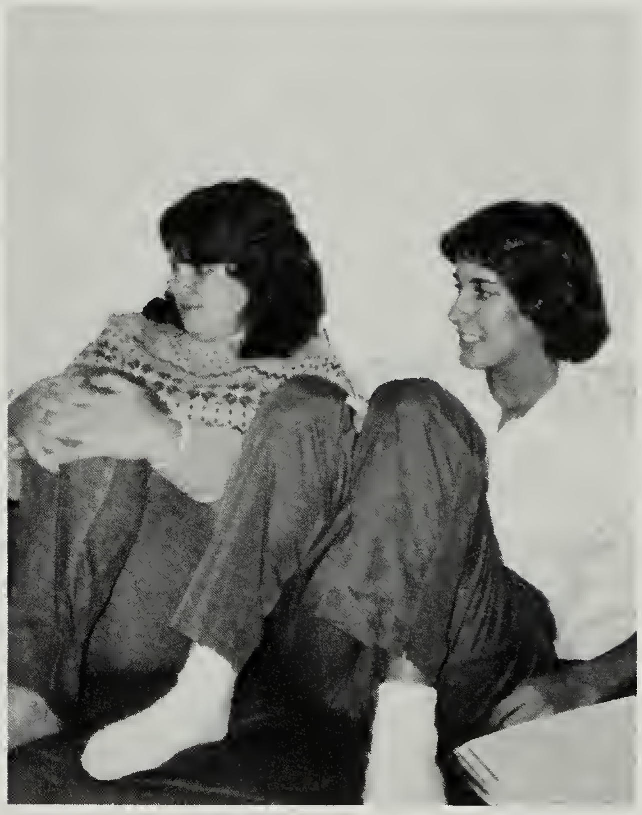
STUDENT

LIFE



The Student Body is a unique one. Students make up the most special part of Manhattanville. Each day brings new excitement and new experiences. Most importantly, each experience brings new challenges and new goals. The most special memories of years spent in college will come from the students and student life here on campus. Some special part of student life will leave with everyone. The perfect blend of diversity and the courage to stand alone, comprise the special quality felt among the Student Body.

THE PERFECT BLEND



There is a feeling that life is today, its only lived once, but that it will be remembered forever.

THE LAUNDRY ROOM

I'm sorry she isn't here, she is in the Laundry Room.

As the teachers play their role in our academic lives, the pub plays a similar role in Manhattanville Students social life. Whether it be having a drink with one of your teachers at HAPPY HOUR, watching a Monday night football game with friends, or dancing on Thursday night, the pub is the meeting grounds for all Manhattanville life at one time or another.

Celebrate the Friendships

I am thankful that in this time our paths merge. Only our future knows how long we will travel the same ways, certain only that our lives will be changed because of our common experiences. Lets enjoy the walk together and celebrate the person and the friends we are becoming along the way.

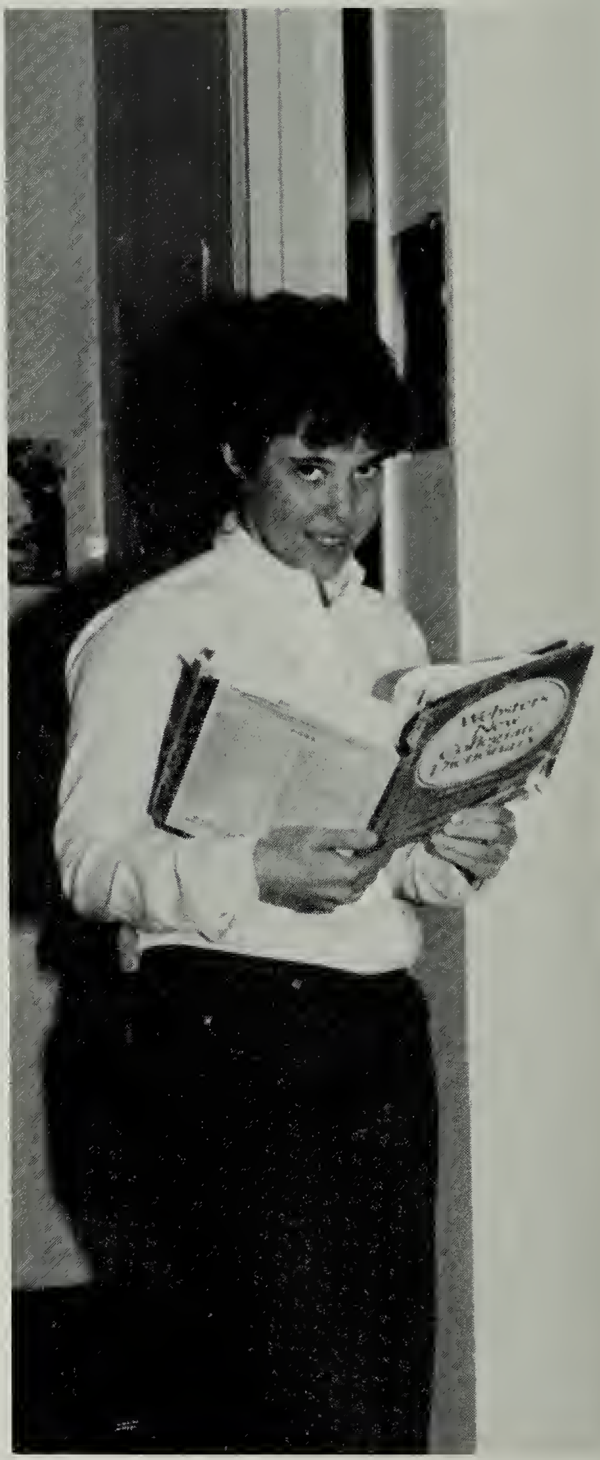
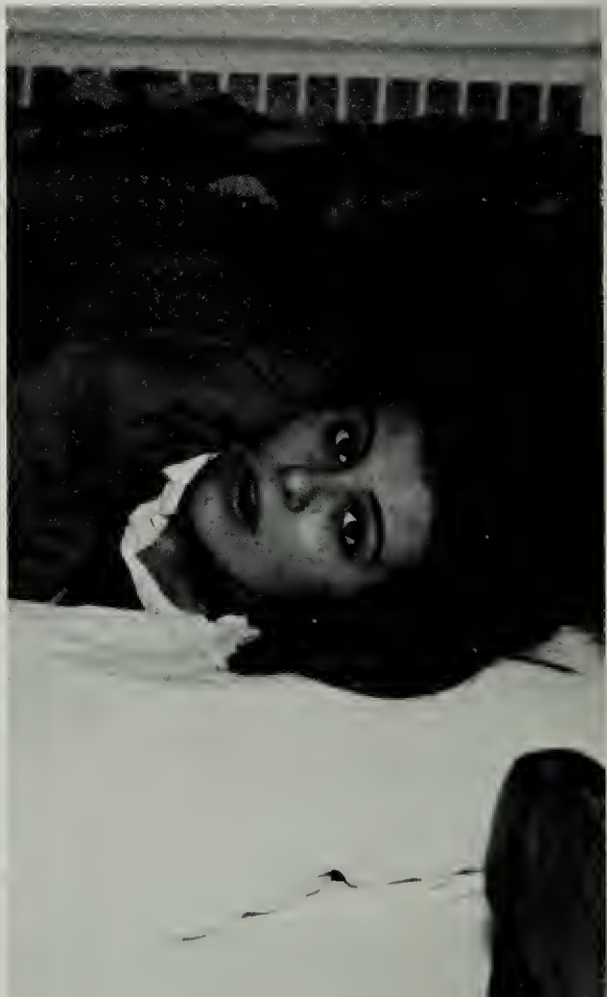
CAFETERIA LIFE

The Cafeteria at Manhattanville is fast becoming one of Westchester County's leading dining spots. Not only a place to relax and enjoy dinner, but a meeting place to see those friends not seen all day. After a busy day of classes students frequent the cafeteria to let loose and reflect upon the events of the day. The cafeteria also serves as a leading information source with aid from the new Student Activities board flashing important upcoming events. Time spent in the cafeteria is memorable time spent with closest friends.

DORM LIFE

"Happiness shines on those who smile."
"Arise go forth and conquer."





Dorm Life is a community at Manhattanville, providing not only a living and study area, but offering everyone the opportunity of learning, growing and sharing with their friends. In the community of learning there is a genuine concern for the development of each student and a continuing search for excellence.

Beaux Arts Ball

Southern belles, knights and much more were the elegant sights of the revival of the ball. Reid Hall was an even more elegant backdrop for the event. From formal costume to formal attire, all enjoyed themselves tremendously. Hor d'oeuvres, vegetables and cheeses, besides a feast of fruit were impressively set for the festive occasion. The event will long be remembered.

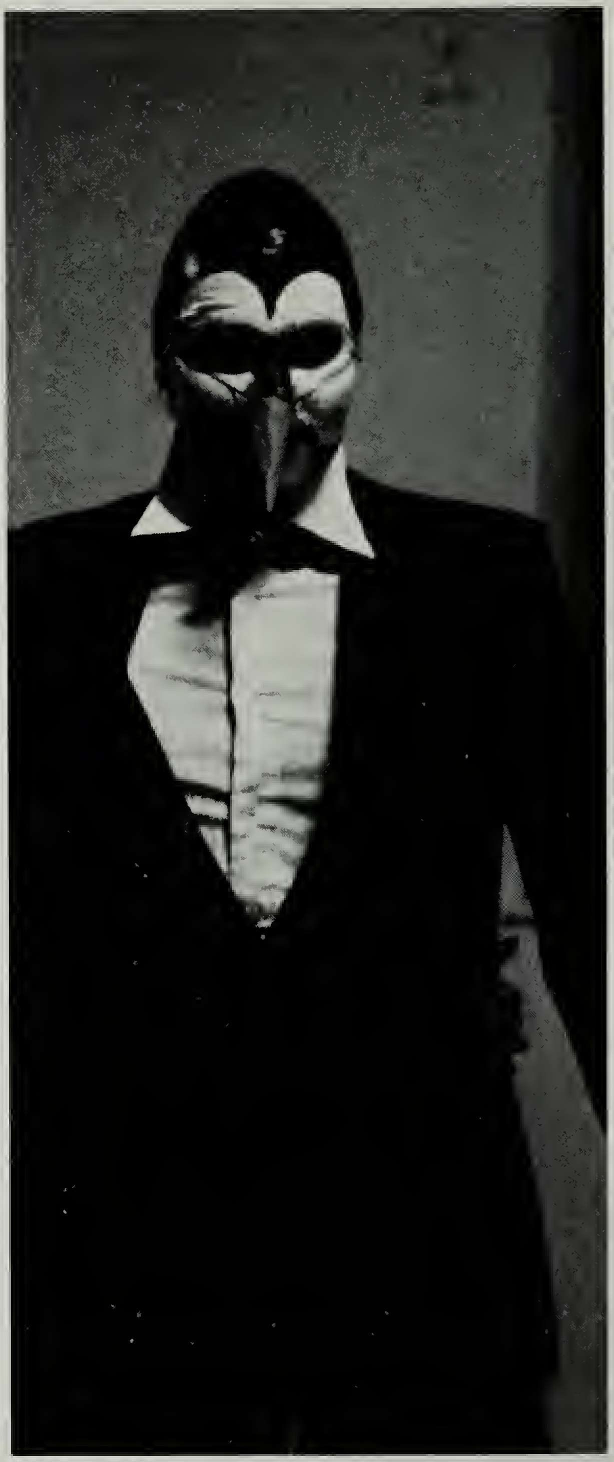
The senior class gave Halloween



The senior class gave a smash of a bash. More people dressed in costume than ever before. Chickens, smurfs, flappers, zombies and witches clucked, smurfed, bopped, stalked and cackled through the 'Ville to the East Room, to create . . . a "Thriller" at the 'Ville . . . A Ha Ha Ha Haa . . .

Fall Dance Performance

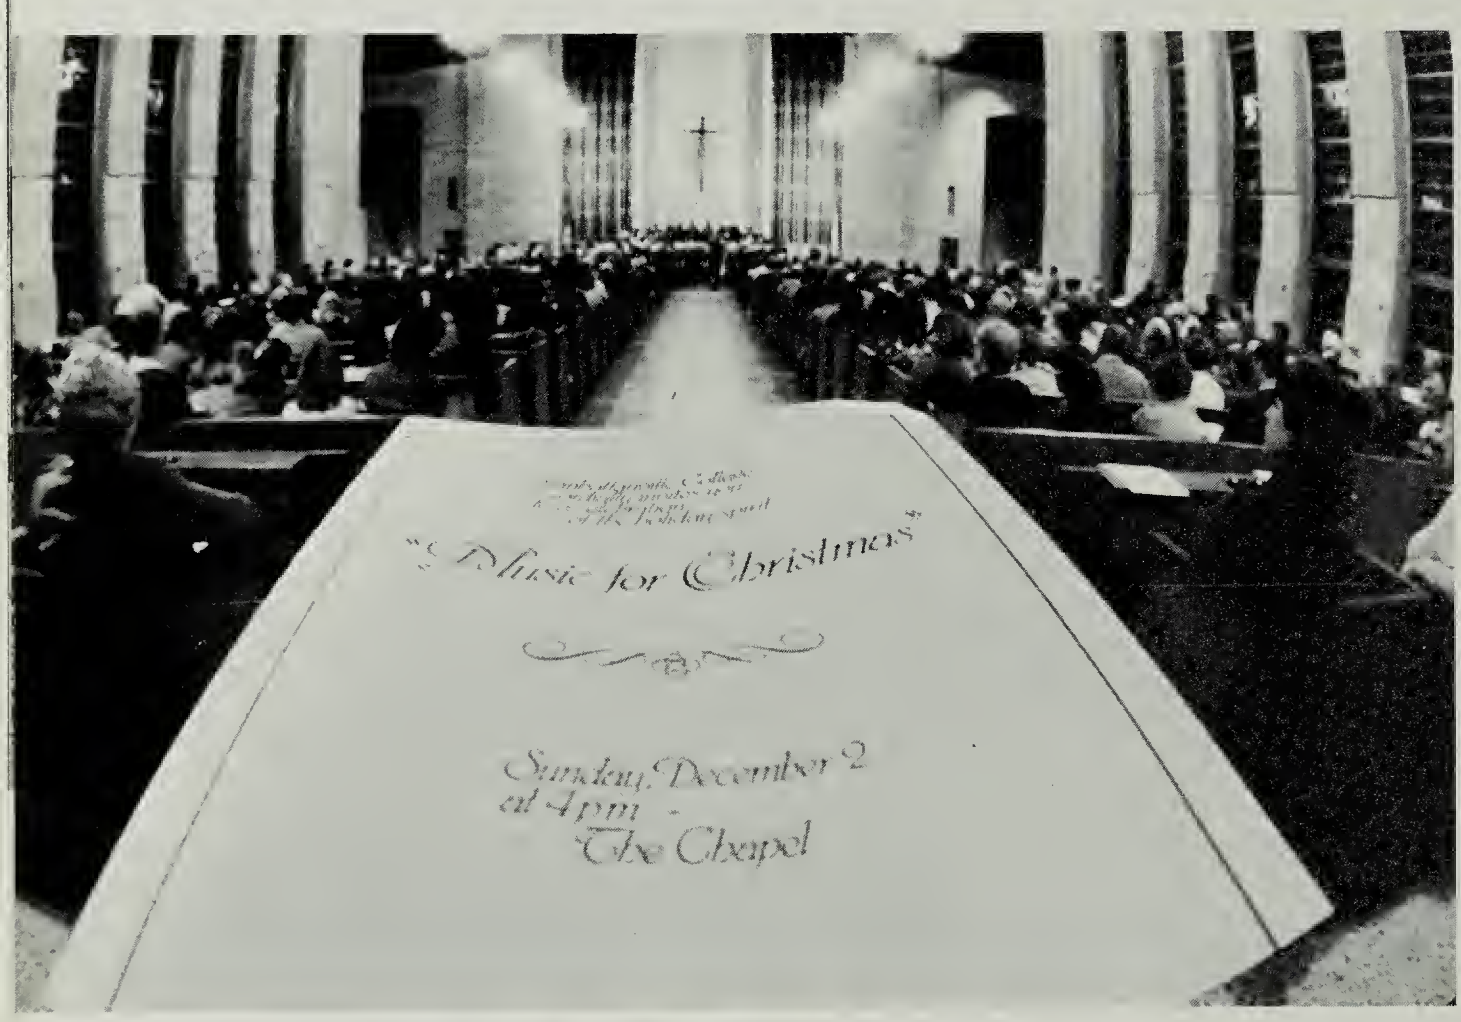
To dance is to have "a moment of passionate, completely disciplined action, that it communicates participation to the nerves, the skin, the structure of the spectator."
Ruth St. Denis.

"Make way for the dance! See if it does not repay a thousand fold. It will enlarge the horizon, give meaning to many things now hidden, new power to the self, a new value to existence."
Ruth St. Denis.

Christmas Semi-Formal

Students kicked off the holiday season to a festival of lights and candles. Everywhere in the air there was a feeling of Christmas. Videos and a live DJ were the highlights of the evening, for most spent the entire night dancing. From hor d'oeuvres to drinks, all filled their hearts content. Red and green filled the room in romantic style as tinsel and garland glazed the East Room.

Music For Christmas

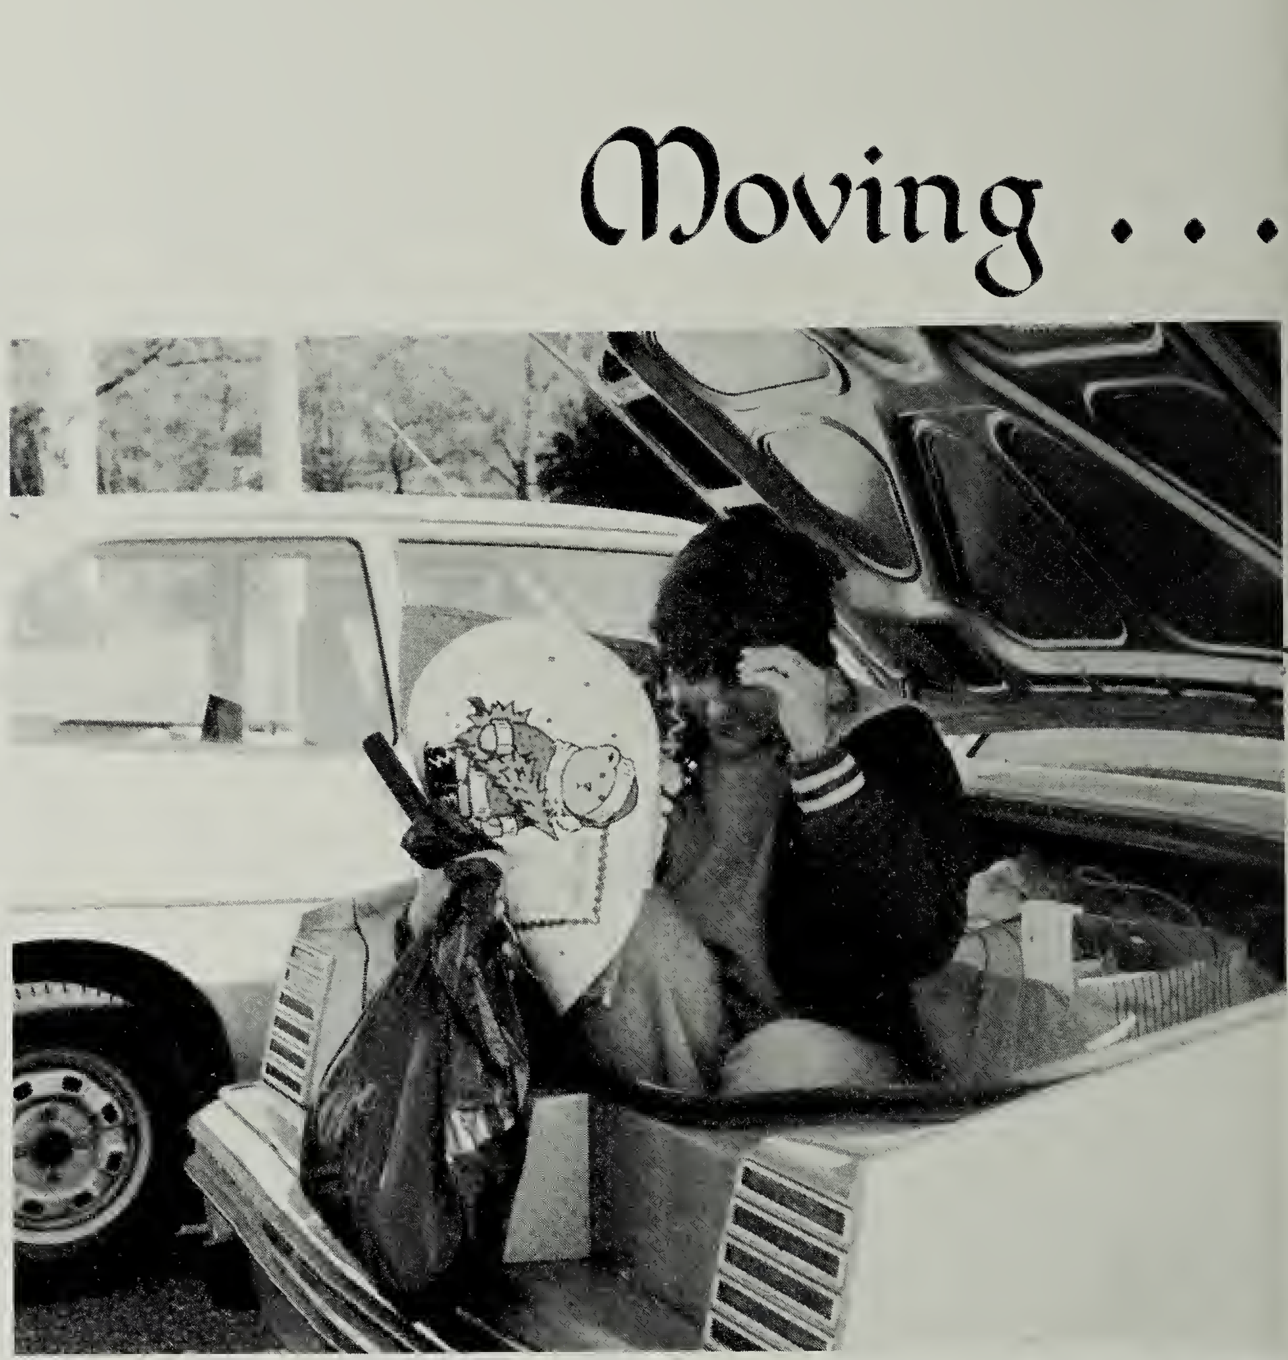


The Manhattanville College Chorus with Orchestra gave a superb and festive holiday performance. The Chamber Singers, Brass Quintet and Handbell Choir displayed a joyous union of exultation. Hearts of the audience were filled with deep expressions of warmth especially as the beautiful chapel resounded the sounds of Silver Bells. It was a fine celebration of holiday spirit experienced as all sang familiar old carols.

Midnight Magic . . .

Celebratory voices echoing through air filled with evergreen . . . carolers allude to the crisp December night, from the tediousness of final study hours . . . and they delight in sweet doughnuts, warm cider and the company of each other in song — Merry Christmas.

Moving . . .



"Hold the elevator doors please!" "Only forty bags this year Mom." "Wow, let me help you . . . is all of that yours?" — Bye, goodbye. Have a blast over break! — Hi how are you?! How was your summer . . . Let me help you with your bags . . .

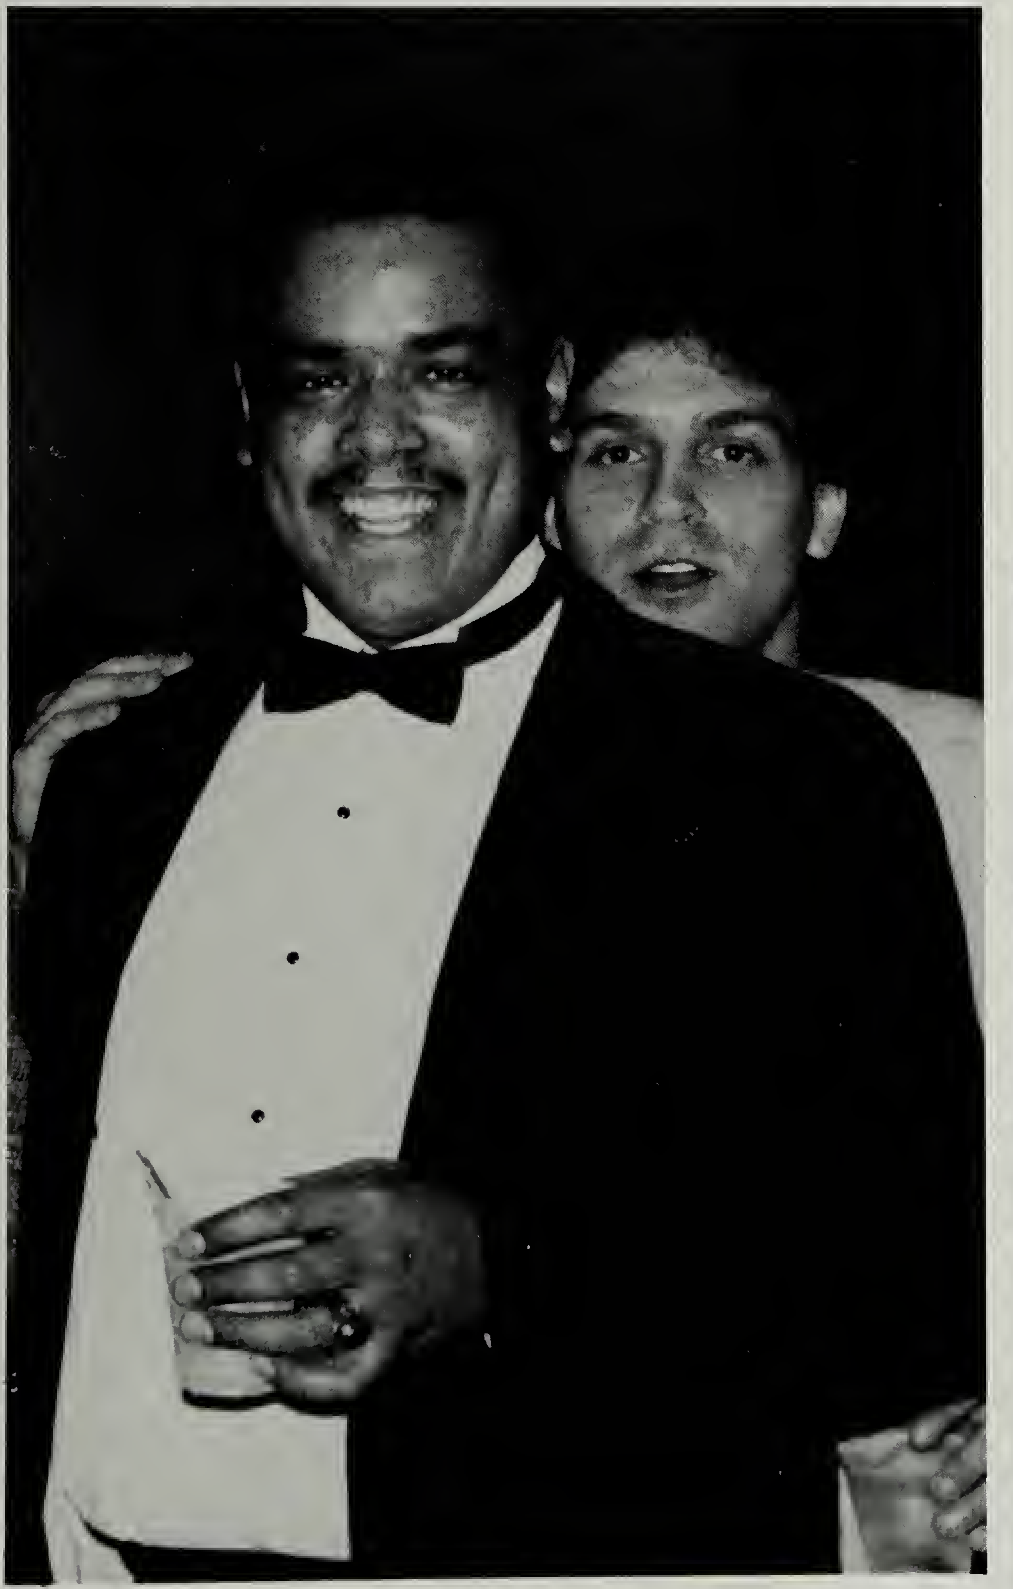
NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY

100 NIGHTS

Finally! It is unbelievable that there are only 100 nights left to study, cram, sweat out waiting for grades and to endure stomaching cafeteria food. But there are only 100 nights left to enjoy these people who have become family . . . It is unbelievable that all of us won't see each other every day. But get pysched! Tonight is for vodka punch and so many smiles . . . We'll leave tears for May 18, 1985.



INTERNATIONAL DINNER DANCE

The International Dinner Dance was the quintessential cultural event of the year. The fare consisted of the native dishes from many countries, including El Salvador, Japan, Hungary, Korea, and Ecuador to name a few. The entertainment for the evening included a fashion show. In addition to the students modelling their native clothes, they also demonstrated their traditional dances. Highlighting the evening was a spectacular exhibition of the Japanese sport, kendo. The evening was memorable to all and will be cherished by many as they look back upon their years spent at Manhattanville.

STUDY

Oxford: conservative, scholarly, Thomas Hardy, pubs, and the Bodlein Library. After spending the summer studying at New College, Oxford those are the things that come first to mind when I think of Oxford. During my short stint in Oxford, I traced the development of the English novel from Richardson to Golding, became familiar with English politics and history, and learned to drink the stereotypical beverages of the English — warm beer and hot tea. Amy O'Shea

It stared out as a simple voyage, or so I thought. Little did I know then that not only would I find a travelling partner, but nonetheless, she was from M'ville. Here I was, dragging from jet lag, when I see this semi-familiar face walking towards me with an "I Love Andrew" button on. Margaret Dana Believe it or not, my adventure began when I spotted an article in Time Magazine that said Prince Andrew was one of the World's Most Available Bachelors. I had always wanted to be a princess, so rather than explain to my father that I was quitting school to find and marry Prince Andrew, I convinced him that I wanted to study in England. Once in England, I took a taxi to Buckingham Palace. I tried to explain to the guard that I was there to see Andrew, but he wouldn't believe that Andrew was expecting me! Of all the nerve. I then figured I had three choices. I could hop the high, spiked, probably electric and well guarded fence, I could become a hunger striker and refuse to eat until I met Andrew, or I could convince my father to run against and beat Ronald Reagan for President of the United States. I figured the latter was the most logical, but my father was not receptive to the idea.

Well, I did spend a semester in Oxford, England and I did frequent London, but unfortunately I did not meet Andrew. Patricia O'Connor

ABROAD

Mon voyage en France fut une mer-, veilleuse expérience. J'ai appris mer —, vivre dans un autre pays. Si e'etait à refaire je n'hésiterais pas. Te recommenderais à quiconque de la faire! Faites le!
Eric Fink

The cultures, people, arts, languages, foods, and everything I encountered during the year added to my trip abroad. I fell in love with Europe and its wide range of lifestyles. Travelling throughout the continent during vacations was especially rewarding. I have so many wonderful memories of Europe and especially of Florence. Oh, I did not exactly forget about America while I was in Europe . . . to compensate for the "mancanza" of my country, I ate in every McDonald's in every city in which I visited!
Susan Fiamma

I spent last year in Florence, Italy, studying art history and the Italian language . . . and I really passed a fabulous year.

Internships . . .

More than eighty percent of us at Manhattanville take advantage of the internship program offered through the Office of Career Services. While many intern positions are designed for juniors and seniors, there are positions for sophomores available as well.

Internships are not always purely rewarding experiences. The work involved may be more than expected, and an upclose look at corporate politics will not be a look "promotional paradise." But no matter how trying or how many trials faced during a given internship, the consensus is that the advantages are far greater than the disadvantages.

If there was a major called "internship" the required courses would be: Theory versus Practicality; Speech and Assertiveness; Job and Goal Dedication; Human Relations; Niche Finding; Contacts and a seminar in "Real World 101". And there would be endless numbers of electives to be taken advantage of, such as Self and Job Gratification.

On the next page are comments that interns wrote in to me when they filled out a questionaire about internships. You will be impressed with the thought put into the comments, and you will be inspired by the growth that they have experienced.

"I expected to gain a first hand look at the relationship between a major corporation and the Government . . . I concentrated on a few major issues affecting Pepsi Co — . . . Corporate taxation and Tax on soft drinks."

"It is important to stress to your employer that you want and are capable of doing challenging projects and assignments . . . or you may be disappointed."

. . . "I realize that practical as well as theoretical knowledge is important."

"I learned about . . . what it means to have teamwork. Every little effort counts."

"Getting exposure within a company is important. Being friendly and letting people count on you is a good feeling."

"I expected to make a buck . . . I gained valuable experience."

"I liked the exposure to the corporate world, but I disliked the politics that goes on . . . I am more interested in a career in computers . . . this will lead to a permanent job."

" . . . disliked overtime . . . loved OT checks!"

"I missed out on campus events."

"The customer contact afforded by the job at Wang gave 'me' practical experience in sales that went far beyond the knowledge 'I' asquired in the classroom."

I thank the interns who sent in their questionaires. I wish them and all of you who are working toward preparing yourselves for the job market much luck and success. Shelley Johnson — Editor-in-Chief.

AGNES OF GOD

Directed by Michael Bennett

"It is a play which examines both reality and miracles and perhaps, — just perhaps, the reality of miracles." This was not only felt by the director and actors of Agnes of God, but by all those who saw this production. The workshop Directing project, which was presented December 8th and 9th, featured Susanne Bassmann, Julie Long, and Beatrice Riguad. "As my first directing experience, I was both amazed and delighted to see a mere vision in my mind come to life on the stage." Michael Bennett

"I really enjoyed the yearbook construction. I felt I aided in a very important function. Now you'll all look at the year that just passed and see that I've helped in making it last." (m.f.)

"Being involved in the 1985 yearbook as Business Editor has been a very rewarding experience. The yearbook captures the true essence of Manhattanville and I really enjoyed being a part of it." (m.r.)

"I had a lot of fun being on the yearbook staff. I got to meet and work with a lot of really nice people and getting involved really enabled me to 'Take a Look Into My World at Manhattanville.'" (d.m.)

"Here I sit on my bed all alone. It is quiet now, everyone has come back from the pub and gone to sleep. Here I sit on my bed all alone, except for the book that I hold in my hands. It is filled with laughter, faces, movement of the way we were and of the way we have become. Now I turn to the ads that go into the '85 Tower — the book that I am helping to create. Here I sit on my bed not alone, but with all of you." (a.v.)

"As photographer for Tower I have come into contact with more people than ever imagined. It has been a challenge to cover events but a joy to come into contact with students at their favorite events." (f.c.)
